

I believe that anything that degrades a citizens privacy in the name of security is wrong. The notion that a government organization could tap a flow of packets at will, would only drive those who wish to be private to utilize stronger encryption. Benjamin Franklin once said: "Those who would give up essential liberty to purchase a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety"